

Public Information Web Site Release

I-29 20th Street South Interchange Project Public Information Web Site Release Project EM 0295(45)130 PCN 020V

An informational web site will be released on Monday, April 20, 2020 at 5:00 p.m. for the proposed construction of a new interchange along Interstate 29 at 20th Street South in Brookings. 20th Street South is approximately 2 miles south of 6th Street. The web site address is: www.20thstinterchange.com.

Due to restrictions in public gatherings from the COVID-19 virus, the web site release is in lieu of a Public Information Meeting. On the web site, you may learn about the project, view a presentation, and enter your questions and comments.

The project proposes the new interchange to relieve traffic congestion, improve connections between workers and places of employment, and provide access to planned economic development. Funding has become available to construct the interchange in year 2022. This informational web site release is part of the process to involve the public and affected landowners in the process of reviewing and providing feedback on the benefits and impacts of the project.

For this initial web site release, comments and questions about the project can be submitted on the web site until May 4, 2020.

For information regarding this project, contact Jackie Lanning, City of Brookings (605-692-6629), or James Unruh, HDR (605-977-7740).
